

CI Weekly Features: August 25, 2012

Screening With the Big, Safe Dividend Formula

Charles Carlson's stock-picking approach seeks stocks with above-average growth potential and a safe and growing dividend.

StockTwits

StockTwits is a real-time social network that allows users to share news and rumors about companies, express opinions on investments and investment strategies, and share with or seek advice from other users.

Grant Henning's Fundamental-Value Stock Trading System

After Henning developed a technical-momentum approach to stock-picking, he discovered that there are times when value stocks with strong earnings do better. A look at Henning's ranking system using a fundamental-value approach.

Gadget Corner - booq Cobra brief L

Mid-sized briefcase-style laptop bag.

Sitelight - GuruFocus.com

GuruFocus.com is a website devoted to value investing and the idea that individual investors would benefit from selecting stocks that have been researched and chosen by the best investors in the world, such as Warren Buffett and Peter Lynch.

This Week's Question

What is more important to you when shopping?

- A) The convenience of shopping online?
- B) The security of shopping at brick-and-mortar stores?

Read more »