

Generating Statistical Summary and Sector/Industry Reports

Last month, we showed how to use Stock Investor Pro to create portfolios that are unique lists of stocks. Portfolios can be generated from existing screens or by manually selecting companies. In this month's Stock Investor News, we discuss how you can generate reports to gain valuable insights into the companies as a group. We take you through the basic process of how to run the statistical summary, sector and industry reports on a defined group of stocks.

Read more »