

One in Three Investors Favoring Health Care

This week's Sentiment Survey special question asked AAI members what industries or sectors they currently like. Nearly one-third of respondents (31%) said health care, including pharmaceutical and biotech companies. Technology was second, named by 18% of respondents. Slightly more than 14% of respondents said utilities. Gold and energy were tied for fourth with about 13% of respondents listing either (or some cases, both) industries. Several members named more than one preferred industry in their responses.

Want to weigh in? Take the survey yourself and see results online at <http://www.aai.com/sentimentsurvey>.

If you want to become an effective manager of your own assets and achieve your financial goals, consider a risk-free 30-day Trial AAI Membership.