

AII Members Favoring Health Care Stocks

This week's Sentiment Survey special question asked AII members what industries or sectors they like right now. Nearly one-third (31%) of respondents said they liked health care stocks. Energy ranked second, picked by more than quarter of respondents (26%). Technology ranked third (16%), followed by financial companies in fourth place (14%). When we last asked this question in early June 2014, respondents said they liked energy, followed by technology and health care, and then industrials.
